

He even came back on Christmas Day

Forum, The Straits Times (Wednesday, 30 July 2008)

Bouquets

MADAM HO BOON ENG: 'I wanted to have a knee replacement operation, but was apprehensive as this was the first time that I would have undergone major surgery. I was pleasantly surprised when Assistant Professor Wilson Wang of the National University Hospital's (NUH) Orthopaedic department helped me understand the step-by-step process and comforted me and my family, knowing that we were under stress. I was particularly touched when he even came back on Christmas Day last year to check on me during my recovery. I will not forget NUH and Dr Wang's care and dedication.'